Event/Club: 2013 World Rowing Championship Docks Supplied By Local Small Business, AccuDock™

Location: Chungju, South Korea

AccuDock™ has been awarded primary manufacturer and supplier of each floating dock system for the 2013 World Rowing Championships for Chungju, South Korea. AccuDock™ has been working with a newly established exclusive South Korea dealer, R&C Co., Ltd. and Mr. Yong-Soo Park on numerous rowing dock projects. The first of many was recently installed – a 16' x 80' rowing dock with an 8' aluminum access ramp. R&C is in receipt of the AccuDock™ rowing docks for the 2013 World Rowing Championships in Chungju, South Korea.

The rowing docks, which were entirely, fabricated in our Pompano Beach, FL facilities. AccuDock™ has been providing customers with floating dock solutions since the mid 1990's. AccuDock™ began in the industry offering commercial platforms, and has successfully integrated the AccuDock™ brand into the residential, rowing and government markets. AccuDock™ currently supplies rowing docks, kayak docks, commercial platforms, work floats, and gangways all over the world and that is just the beginning. What separates AccuDock™ from the competition is the ability and willingness to customize products that fit the customer's exact needs. AccuDock™ being a small business and manufacturing all US made products in house allows for competitive pricing and development of new innovative products, such as the ADA Compliant Paddlesport docks, ADA Compliant Transfer Platform and ADA Compliant Gangway solutions. These offerings allow AccuDock™ to market and find floating dock solutions to a broader array of consumers. AccuDock™ rowing docks are distinctive and one of a kind in their own right. The rowing dock system is the only floating modular platform offering as little as a 5 inch profile above the water. This has proven to be such an effective advantage in the floating dock market for the rowing community and makes for the preferred in and out of the water access for the athletes.
